

Name: _____ Date: _____

Wonder By R.J. Palacio
Part One - August
Grammar

Directions: Below is a passage from part one of Wonder. Using a dictionary and/or thesaurus, edit the passage to ensure that each word is spelled correctly. If a word is spelled incorrectly, please edit the passage to show the correct spelling. HINT: there are a total of ten misspelled words.

"I notised not too long ago that even though people were getting used to me, no one would actually touch me. I didn't realise this at first because it's not like kids go around touching each other that much in middle school anyway. But last Thursday in dance class, which is, like, my least faveorite class, Mrs. Atanabi, the teacher, tried to make Ximena Chin be my dance partner. Now, I've never actually seen someone have a 'panic atack' before, but I have heard about it, and I'm pretty sure Ximena had a panic attack at that second. She got really nervous and turned palle and literaly broke into a sweat within a minute, and then she came up with some lame excusse about really having to go to the bathroom. Anyway, Mrs. Atanabi let her off the hooke, because she ended up not makeng anyone dance together."