

Name _____ Date _____

Compound Sentence Practice

Combine the two sentences into one longer compound sentence.

1. Rowley was the first one on the hill. I was the thrower.

2. I finally knocked Rowley off the Big Wheel today. It didn't happen the way I expected.

3. Then he left the room. We were on our own.

4. He tried to let me know about it. I just stared straight ahead and kept walking.

5. Today it snowed for the first time this winter. School was canceled.

6. Dad was already mad at me for tearing up the sod. I knew I was in for it.

7. I came up with this character called Creighton the Cretin. I got on a roll.

8. I must've banged out twenty strips. I didn't even break a sweat.

9. Most of them were pretty bad. I wasn't too worried about the competition.

10. The paper came out today at lunch time. Everyone was reading it.

Key

1. First of all, nobody has bothered to learn their lines, and that's all Mrs Norton's fault.
2. Tonight was the big school production of "The Wizard of Oz."
3. The play was supposed to start at 8:00 but it got delayed because rodney James had stage fright.
4. That's when I noticed Patty Farrell standing in the wings.
5. Believe it or not, Dad actually won that argument.
6. I told him I wanted the Barbie Dream House, and he said he'd hook me up.
7. But once again, I let my hopes get too high.
8. He even got Twisted Wizard, so at least I can play it when I come up to his house.
9. Well, Manny completely lost his mind.
10. And that's also why my only New Year's resolution is to never play with Manny again.